

Written Conversation Starters

Written conversation can be about anything. Simply keep in mind, as you ask questions, write, and respond, that you are modelling spelling, punctuation, sentence structure and more. Though you don't have to be a perfect writer, you should try your best to avoid short forms and abbreviations in order to encourage your learner to do the same.

“What’s your favourite thing about going to this school?”

“What TV shows do you like to watch?”

“What do you do when you’re not in school?”

“If you were allowed to do one really cool thing, what would you do?”

“What’s your favourite type of music?” Do you play an instrument?

“What’s your favourite band? Have you ever seen them in concert?”

“What’s your favourite thing to do when you’re not in school?”

“Do you have a sport or something else that you’re involved in?”

“Do you have a favourite movie?”

“What kind of stuff do you like to read? Do you have a favourite book or magazine?”

“Do your parents let you hang out with your friends on the weekend? What do you do?”

“If you could be anything in the world, what would you be?”

“Do you have a favourite TV show? Why is it your favourite?”

“Do you have brothers or sisters? Are you the oldest or youngest in the family?”

“Have you always lived here? Where else would you love to live, or even visit?”
